Traveling was hard work in the mountainous region. He managed to cover ten miles per day; thirty-five miles was a very good average, but the biggest day's journey accomplished with dogs was sixty-four miles over the ice. The story that he had discovered falls 200 feet high was untrue, as well as the yarn about breaking his arm, as he had never been ill a single day. was untrue, as well as the yarn about breaking his arm, as he had never been ill a single day.

Lord Lonsdale has brought back with him voluminous data of his observations, about 300 animal specimens and a large assortment of mineral specimens. He found, however, no anthracile or bituminous coal. Speaking of Alaska gold mines, he says that all the diggings of any account are on Canadian soil. In the Peace river district he shot some wood buffalo, and discovered some very fine sulphur springs in the vicinity of Buffalo Lake. He was very favorably impressed with the Eequimaux of the Mackenzie river, describing many of the women as almost beautiful, while the men were a race of giants. At Great Bear Lake, caribou, moose and mountain sheep were plentiful.

St. Petersauro, May 15.—The Shah ot Persia, who is now journeying from of Persia, who is now journeying from Teneran to St. Petersburg, is meeting with a grand reception in Russis. At Erwan the streets through which he passed were lined with troops, and at several points were triumphal arches bearing the inscription "To the Shah's Sacred Person." The entire town was brilliantly illuminated upon the evening of the day on which the Shah arrived.

Pive Brigauds Hanged. Soria, May 15 .- Five brigands were Some May 15.—Five brigands were hanged in the court yards of the prison here to-day. They were led separately to the scaffold and were hanged in succession. Each man was enveloped in a bag passed over the head and reaching to the waist. Their struggles were prolonged several minutes. A mob broke through the cordon surrounding the jail and the gens d'armes had great difficulty in keeping them away from the scaffold.
